Share the wonder and adventure of southern swamps, ponds, and rookeries through Janies captivating nature photography of wading birds and soul-soothing inspirational essays. These birds are some of the most beautiful and graceful creatures on earth. Known to bird lovers as waders, they include the Snowy Egret, the Blue Heron, the Roseate Spoonbill, and others too numerous to mention. Brilliant in plumage, graceful in flight, serene in repose, these birds congregate by the hundreds in rookeries (breeding grounds for different species of birds) where one is afforded an unparalleled opportunity to observe them in their natural habitat.
