

In 2008 Diana Deer left Australia on a month's leave. It was to be the beginning of a journey to a more examined life. Questions about life, troubling ones that many people fear to face had to be answered. Her life was filled with work, a troubled marriage and the complexity of life in an increasingly frenetic country. She longed for simplicity. From the outside nothing seemed drastically wrong, she was in, what looked like, a stable marriage, she had an established career with a well-respected organization and she lived in "the lucky country" - Australia. But deep down she felt empty. She knew in her heart that to have the life she dreamed of things would have to change. Her inner journey took her to places she had not imagined. It led her to reflect on the deeper meaning of life, to question her beliefs and realize her truths. Her outer journey took her from Australia to India, Thailand, Vietnam and Bali. It was while holidaying in her beloved Bali that the possibilities started to unfold. It became clear that moving away from all that she knew may be her only chance of freedom, and to live the "simple" life that she desperately longed for. She knew that the road ahead would be fraught with difficulties, but she was compelled to follow her dreams "only then would they become her reality. Diana Deer's humorous and witty tales will delight you, and your heart will ache with hers as she reflects, deeply and very honestly, at the struggle of letting go. This heartfelt recollection is filled with Diana's keen observations of the travels she experienced, in the countries that she loved. You will be laughing out loud, while her inner journey will have you questioning your own most cherished and shielded beliefs. Seeking Simplicity will delight and entertain you and it may even change your life, as it has Diana Deer's.
